Introducing the 2026 Illumination Christian Book Awards Medalists

Traverse City, MI – February 11, 2026 –The Illumination Book Awards, dedicated to recognizing and honoring the best books in Christian literature, has announced its 2026 medalists. This year's awards featured nearly 400 entrants from around the world, showcasing the depth and diversity of faith-based publishing.

Designed to shine a light on exemplary Christian literature, the Illumination Book Awards celebrate books that inspire, uplift, and deepen readers' faith. Winners include independent authors, self-publishers, and established publishing houses, all contributing to the global conversation of faith through storytelling, theology, and spiritual reflection.

About the Illumination Book Awards

Since 2013, the Illumination Christian Book Awards have honored the best faith-based titles across more than 25 categories, shining a light on books that guide and inspire readers on their spiritual journey. From devotionals and children's stories to thought-provoking explorations of theology and faith, these awards recognize books that make a meaningful impact.

Their panel of esteemed judges—including educators, clergy, and publishing professionals—carefully evaluates each entry for content, design, and creativity. By selecting 3–6 medalists per category, they seek to ensure that these impactful voices in Christian publishing receive the recognition they deserve.
